"You're the most pathetic person that I have ever met!" Who else but humorist, Art Fettig could turn that line into a love song? And who but super musician Greg Brayton and his two pathetic lovers, Billy Dean and Baby Jean, could make being pathetic a step up on the social register?

Two Pathetic Lovers is the lead song for their new CD titled Songs for Pathetic Lovers. That combination of Fettig's songs and Brayton's outrageous renditions bring you an album that will appeal to anyone who enjoys a gut-level laugh with a tear or two thrown in for good measure.

Graj Sailin' just might become the new National Anthem for garage sale addicts and Big Buffet Cafe could well become the "in" song for members of "Overeaters Unanimous".

The first six tracks on this CD set up such a playful mood that Internet Blues comes as a bit of a shock.

Greg's flat-out guitar solo demonstrates the skills he developed those eight years on the road with his rock group Blindman's Bluff. Greg had both of eyes removed at 10 months of age. It saved his life.

His composition Wish You Could See has a special meaning when you know Greg's courageous life story.

Art Fettig has been a motivational humorist for major corporations and associations for the past 25 years. Their song Ya Done Good is already being used by major corporations to salute outstanding performance not only as music for meetings, but also as background for motivational video productions.

A Letter to Max, read by Fettig (with Brayton's touching musical background) pays tribute to a buddy of his, killed in Korea when he served as a combat rifleman. Fettig was wounded

"Nudgin Songs." That's what people call them. Songs that you listen to, smile and then find someone you love to nudge and say, "That's you!" or "That's us!" or maybe, "That's your sister. Exactly!"

If you want songs that will make you laugh and cry and sing along while you do a little nudgin' yourself, then get this CD today.

DJ'swhy not use our theme Ya Done Good as a lead in for a special feature on your show where you salute someone everyday in your community?

Same with our song My Ex Has Put A Hex On Me. Make it a daily feature.

And it wouldn't take a nuclear scientist to figure out that you could do the same with Pathetic People.

Oh yeah, almost forgot, we put Have A Good Life on the CD with and with out the vocal track. It is a kiss-off song for anyone who feels that it is time to end a relationship. We've provided you with the words too, in case you want to perform it yourself. Same with Big Buffet Cafe. That Karaoke cut on the CD will enable you to sing the song and win first place at the next Karaoke competition.

If they missed anything on this CD then watch for their next one. They are out to tap the boundaries of their talent and imaginations.
